

NEW WORLD MAKATI HOTEL

INTRODUCES DIRECTOR OF HUMAN RESOURCES

New World Makati Hotel welcomes Elmira Perez Dimailig, who joins the hotel as director of human resources.

Mimi, as she is fondly called by family, friends, and colleagues, has more than 20 years of work experience handling the different facets of human resources. These years were with known local and multinational information technology outsourcing and business process management firms. She has held many leadership positions in her career: head of learning and development; human resources shared services head, handling teams in compensation and benefits administration; human resources service desk and reporting; exit management; and chief human resources officer.

“I am excited to join New World Makati Hotel, as I will now be working on the other side of the fence. I have always been the guest of hotels in all my previous posts, and now I will be building new relationships and working with a great team providing world-class service to guests,” says Mimi.

Mimi has earned a bachelor of science in psychology from the University of Santo Tomas in Manila. She has also earned certifications both from the Philippines and abroad to deliver training courses.
